LORDSHIP PLANS TO MOBILIZE FOR AIRPORT BATTLE

STRATFORD—More than 300 property owners and residents of the Lordship area will meet Monday at 8 p.m. in the Lordship school to organize for a battle against the proposed expansion of the Bridgeport Municipal airport.

One of the items on the agenda will be discussion on the possibility of filing a damage suit totaling more than $1,000,000 against the City of Bridgeport by the Lordship property owners. They will contend depreciation in property values and damage because of noise from the aircraft at the airport.

Coughlin Leads Fight

Thomas B. Coughlin, former town court judge and a property owner on Ocean avenue in Lordship, said the purpose of the meeting, in which he is a leader, will be primarily to form a new citizen's organization dedicated "with every legal means available."

The Tenth district Democratic leader said, "we have had enough delays, enough inaction and enough meaningless talk. The time has come for a vigorous, militant action to block what we believe is a dangerous expansion of the airport."

Mr. Coughlin said the new organization will be non-partisan and will include members of both political parties as well as many independents in the district.

"Town officials have failed to provide the leadership necessary to block the expansion of the airport," he said "and we are confident that tomorrow's meeting will result in the creation of an organization which will effectively provide this leadership."

To Map Legal Action

The meeting, it was reported, will give strong consideration to the advisability of instituting immediate suits for damages and for an injunction against the City of Bridgeport.

All interested citizens of the town and town officials have been invited to attend, Mr. Coughlin said.

In addition to Mr. Coughlin, other members of the committee organizing the Monday meeting are Robert Reed, member of the Redevelopment commission; David Burns, president of the Lordship Improvement association; Paul Pjura, former president of the improvement group; E. Cortright Phillips, former chairman of the Board of Education; George Goddu, representing the Short Beach association as well as Paul Egan, Arthur Wedmore, and Joseph Crescimbeni.

Councilman Eugene Suponski, Tenth district, will be unable to attend unless he bypasses a special meeting of the Town Council called for Monday at 8 p.m. to consider installation of an emergency fire alarm system, reconsideration of the appropriation of $4,000 for gypsy moth spraying and setting the terms of the Redevelopment commission.

The Council will have a second special meeting on Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Municipal building when it will receive reports from the Town Attorney on an action open to the Council in its desire to oppose the airport expansion. The Council already is on record as unanimously opposing to the program.

TRAIN CRUSHES MAN IN SUBWAY MISHAP

NEW YORK, (AP)—Several horror-stricken spectators saw a man crushed to death by a subway train yesterday as he frantically tried to scramble from tracks to platform.

The victim was tentatively identified as Louis Morales, 32, of Manhattan. Witnesses told police they saw him emerge from under the platform overhanging a work train entered the IRT Bleecker street station at 12:25 a.m.

The motorman of the train jammed on his brakes as the man desperately sought to climb from the tracks onto the platform, but the train could not be halted in time. The man was crushed between the side of the first car and the platform.

Emergency squad police, using heavy duty jacks, released the body a half-hour later.

CLINICS PLANNED FOR TAKING ORAL POLIO VACCINE

STRATFORD—Dr. Chester E. Haberlin, acting town health director, has announced that Stratford will begin a community-wide program of oral vaccination against Type 1 polio for all pre-school and school-age children as soon as details can be worked out with the school department.

Clinics for administration of the vaccine will be set up in the schools and the health department, Dr. Haberlin said. Vaccine against types II and III polio will be given in the fall.

In announcing the clinics, the health director said that all of the physicians in the town are in favor of the program and it is being conducted in accordance with recommendations of the American Medical association and the endorsement of the Council of the Connecticut State Medical society.

Dr. Haberlin pointed out that in receiving the oral vaccine no "shots" are involved. Vaccine will be administered in small containers with sterile water with each child receiving a container as she or he is checked off and passes a table set up for the purpose.

The oral vaccine has two advantages, he said. It confers prolonged immunity and there is no need for booster shots. It is reported to be nearly 100 per cent effective, he said.

Dr. Haberlin said that the so-called Sabin vaccine is of three types, with six weeks between each treatment. The first is to be given before schools close, the second in September and the third six weeks later.

There will be a 25 cent charge for each child administered the vaccine to cover the cost of the materials. In cases where the individuals are unable to pay for the vaccine will be administered without cost.

It is estimated there are approximately 10,000 children in the public and parochial schools in Stratford.

In the case of pre-school children, the health director said, it is expected that the family pediatrician will administer the vaccine but if he does not, a special clinic will be set up to handle this group.

The health director said, "if every parent cooperates we can have every child in town protected against polio before the time the schools close."

Dr. Haberlin said that he recommends and urges that every child, "even those who have had the vaccine shots," receive the new vaccine.

Times and places will be announced, he said, as soon as the vaccine arrives and the school schedule is set up.

I've Heard It Said —

STRATFORD—The Democrats entered into a "deal" with the Republicans with the result that they placed Robert Reed and Sebastian DiMauro on the Redevelopment commission instead of the Republicans taking four places with the Democrats getting one as recommended by Dr. George L. Gunther, Third district Republican councilman. And now the Democrats want another "deal" to offset the plan of Dr. Gunther to set the term of office of one to a single year and the second Democrat to a two-year term. If it goes through the old argument of "no we do not deal with the Democrats" will be of no value and the whole thing will be out where the public can see it.

That a "deal" had to be in the works, as predicted by Councilman Arthur Dritenas before the meeting even started, was obvious when the balloting started for the Redevelopment commission members. Dr. Gunther had nominated among others Walter M. Giddard, Democrat, hoping that the other Republicans would shun the Town committee recommendations of Mr. Reed and Mr. DiMauro and Councilman Dritenas came up with the nomination of Albert M. Piccus, CD director.

The four remaining Republicans voted for the two Democrats endorsed by the Democratic Town committee which gave them a majority to win.

DR. GUNTHER, who never goes into a battle with one piece of artillery, was ready and waited and immediately pointed out that the ordinance requires, as does the state law, that the persons elected be named for specific terms, one to five years. He offered a resolution which named Mr. Reed for one year and Mr. DiMauro for two years and the three Republicans for the longer three terms. Democratic Councilman James Aspinwall, sensing a loss rather than a victory in the nomination of Albert M. Piccus, moved to table, which was carried.

IMMEDIATELY after the session, Mr. Aspinwall was in conversation with Republican Councilman Reed with a proposal that the term of Mr. Reed be changed to either three or four years and there would then be no opposition. However, in this instance, the vote will probably go along GOP lines as proposed by Dr. Gunther because the GOP has six solid votes on this "unless another deal is in the offing." This one would really be obvious.

MEANTIME until the terms are set, the Redevelopment commission cannot legally meet, under state law.

NORWEGIAN ACCUSES RED TORPEDO BOATS

VADSO, Norway—(AP) Soviet torpedo boats drove about 50 Norwegian, French and British fishing vessels away from fishing grounds in International waters off northern Norway, a Norwegian skipper reported yesterday.

Knut Bikkfelt, master of a Norwegian fishing vessel, said he saw the Soviet flotilla intercept the trawlers Thursday at the Kildin Bank, 27 miles off Vadso, and well north of Soviet territorial waters.

Vadso, a Norwegian fishing center, lies 110 miles northwest of the Soviet port of Murmansk. The area is also fairly close to parts of the Barents sea, which were sealed off from shipping during Soviet nuclear tests last fall.

Actually Mr. Suponski had never declared himself on the Council in favor of the expansion program and was one of the 11 when the vote was taken unanimously against the expansion several months ago. He served on the three-member committee selected by Chairman Joseph W. Venables because his district was most affected and he "sat and listened" at the conference with Mayor Tedesco. He made no agreements, nor did the others, to aid in providing for expansion.

He (and not those who are bitterly opposing him now) was the one who called the meeting of the Lordship residents two weeks ago and asked what they wanted him to do. He told them he was their representative and asked for instructions. He sure enough received them. More than 300 voices voted in opposition to the expansion and demanded that he vote for the referendum requested by Councilman Patrick J. Keogh, Sixth district Democrat. At the Council meeting last Monday night he announced that he intended to so vote when the resolution is cleared for a vote by the town attorney.

If he had ducked the issue we
